MY DEAR BEER,

Case Study

Challenge - Too little time for SEO

Without a structured SEO strategy, My Dear Beer missed valuable ranking opportunities for high-impact keywords and struggled to consistently reach potential customers. As a result, their unique offering remained underexposed, limiting both organic traffic growth and overall brand awareness.

Previously, the team published just 1–2 blog articles per month and optimized pages manually, a time-consuming process that delivered limited results. This lack of scalability and data-driven insight made it difficult to identify emerging opportunities or respond quickly to market demand.

WP SEO AI's - Approach

To help My Dear Beer stand out in the competitive craft beer market, we developed a structured SEO and content approach. We clustered content around popular beer flavors and brewing styles, creating in-depth articles that attracted both enthusiasts and casual drinkers.

By publishing expert insights through SEO-driven blog posts, we built authority in the niche and created a strong foundation for personalized beer subscriptions and packages.

This combination not only boosted organic visibility but also positioned My Dear Beer as a trusted guide for discovering unique and rare beers.
