IP Adelt is a German company for high-quality product presentation systems and visual communication solutions. In a traditionally shaped market, the company is currently driving the transition toward a scalable, AI-supported sales and marketing strategy.

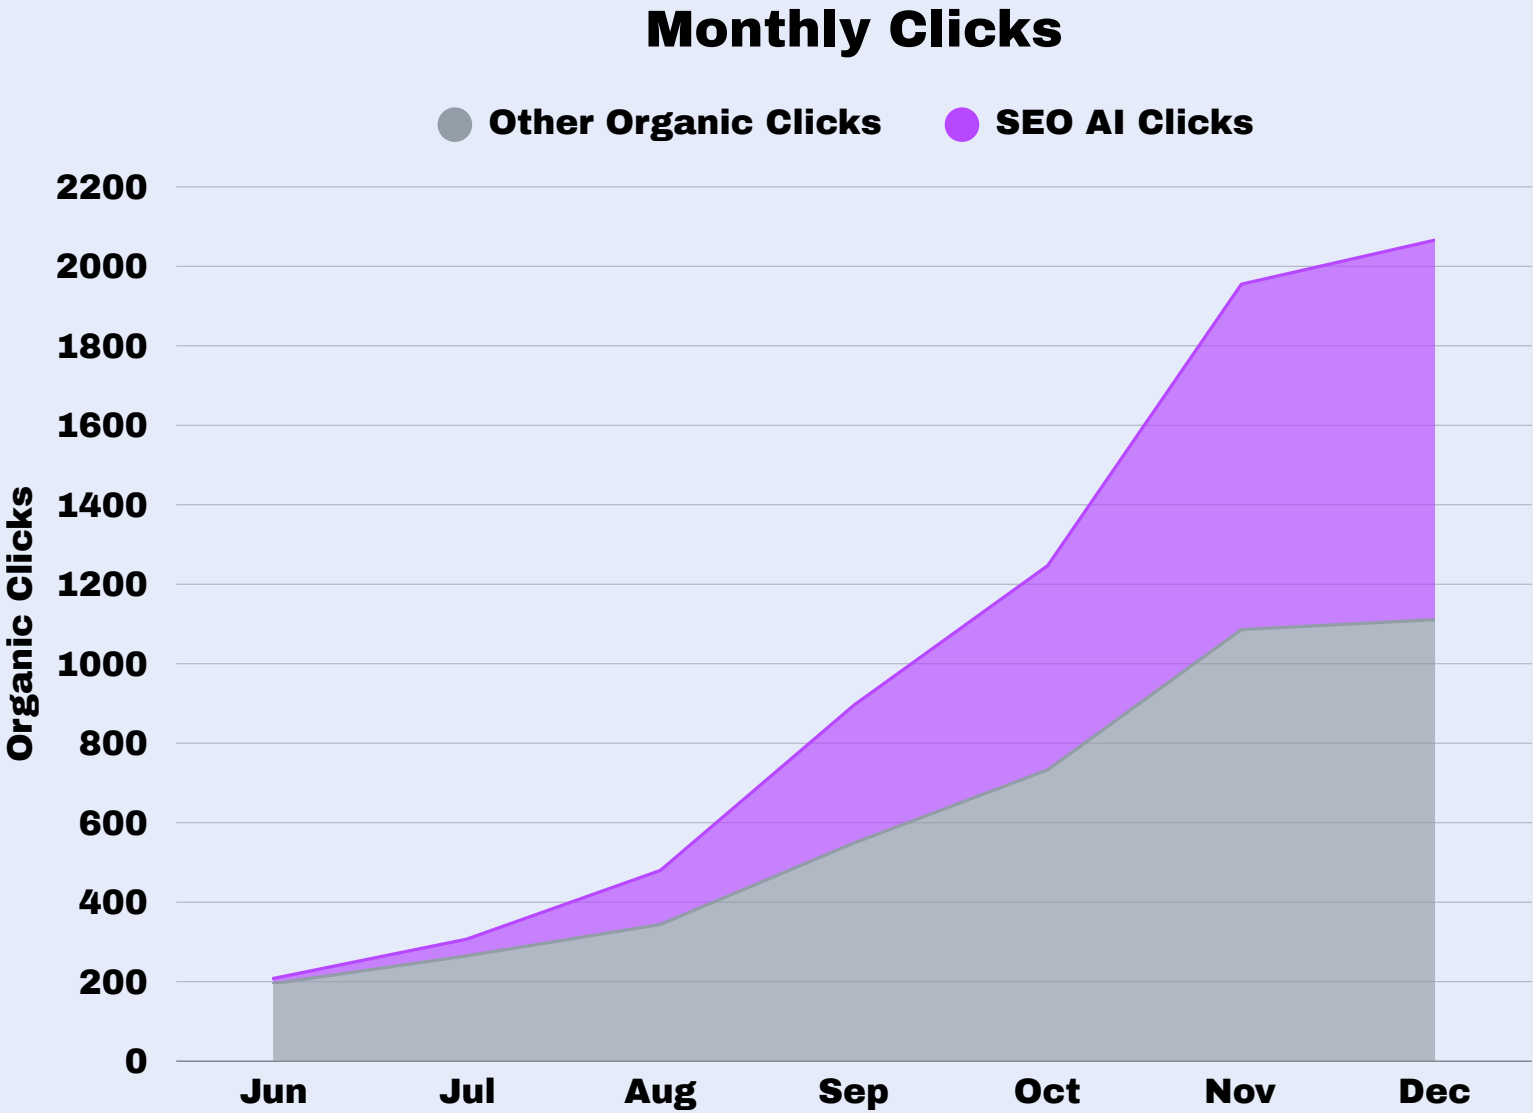

WP SEO AI relied on a focused SEO strategy centered around the topic cluster “product presentations.” Through the systematic coverage of relevant search queries with high-quality German-language content in the awareness stage, demand was generated at an early stage.

Existing product pages and project examples strengthened the thematic relevance and led to clear authority without wasted reach.

Case Study

Challenge - We have to modernise

IP Adelt was in the middle of transitioning to a more modern, scalable sales approach. While innovative automation solutions were already in use, a stable organic acquisition channel was completely missing.

A large portion of the product pages was not yet live, which led to significant visibility gaps. At the same time, the broad product portfolio made clear thematic positioning more difficult. WP SEO AI was identified as a strategic partner to transform this complexity into sustainable growth.

WP SEO AI's - Approach

WP SEO AI developed a focused SEO strategy centered around the topic cluster 'product presentations.'

The goal was to systematically cover all relevant search queries within this subject area with high-quality German-language content.

The content was deliberately positioned in the awareness stage to capture early demand. Existing product pages and project examples served as contextual relevance signals. This created thematic authority without scattered or inefficient content production.

WP SEO AI's - Impact

-  Topical authority instead of wasted reach: Clear focus on a core cluster
-  Automated AI workflows: Research, content, and optimization from a single source
-  Awareness-first strategy: Early demand captured systematically
-  Scalability: Massive output without additional resource expenditure
